Hello, Ben,

I'm glad that I can take ~~a~~ part in the music festival in July, too. Ofcause I can give you some more information.

Our band plays rock music, but sometimes it sounds like pop music. We like to play on a stage, that's why we are so happy that we can play in your festival.

I don't care when we can play, you can choose it by yourself. But some members from my group wants to play at the last night.

We don't want to stay in a camp, sorry. Because ~~we~~ my band and I want to live in a hotel. No one in our group like camp. ~~I think we will stay at hotel.~~

I hope, we will have fun at the music festival ~~in~~ July.

With love,

Dasha

WRITING

I think, Ovid wanted to say that we should appreciate these times.

I think, suggest, we mustn't forget our history and experience of ~~our~~ ancient people. If we remember previous mistakes, we surely won't make them. ~~But~~

Nevertheless, nowadays / world has changed a lot, it has ~~begin~~ ^{become} better, people have ~~begun~~ ^{become} kinder and ~~po-~~ ^{more} literate, and I'm sure it is a reason to praise these times.

For example, ^{firstly,} nowadays many cruel ways of execution are forbidden, but in ancient times they could kill a person who only stole something. Secondly, people didn't care about the ecological situation and the feelings of animals, but now the mankind has become nicer, people establish various organizations, to support nature and rare animals. Thirdly, ~~now~~ nowadays all people are considered to be equal, but in ancient times (and even about fifty years ago) some people were treated ~~as not good enough ones~~ ^{awkwardly} for their colour of skin, religion or gender. To sum up, contemporary people are safe, careful, and equal. And it is my belief that these times are happier for us.

By the way, our life became more comfortable because of ~~development~~ and the technical progress. In ancient times it was necessary to work all day long just to stay alive, but now we have plenty of free time to relax, to meet our friend and to improve our skills, for example, in English.

So, we must remember ancient times not to make mistakes of their people. However, we should praise these ~~and probably~~ future times, because our life has become much better.
